

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a deuteron generating target having a construction for generating deuteron efficiently, and a deuteron generating target apparatus including the same. The 5 deuteron generating target is constructed by providing an upper film mainly composed of a deuterated organic compound onto a base film mainly composed of a halogen-containing organic compound.